10th Annual
Pikes Peak Region
Domestic Violence Summit

October 5 & 6, 2011
Elkhorn Conference Centre, Fort Carson
Dear Participant,

Welcome to the 10th Annual Domestic Violence Summit! This year, we are pleased to offer you another amazing group of speakers, both local and national. We are also pleased to be at the Elkhorn Catering and Conference Centre, giving those of you from out of town a taste of Colorado Springs, and offering those of you who live in the area a beautiful retreat from your offices. As we plan the DV Summit each year, we brainstorm topics pertinent to our community and to the domestic violence movement in an effort to keep you up-to-date on new standards, research, and practice. This year’s selection of topics and presenters is a testament to the work of this community.

Please take time to enjoy yourselves at this beautiful retreat and conference center. We look forward to reading your comments in the evaluations, as they help us choose future facilities, topics, speakers, and menus.

We hope you are inspired by this year’s DV Summit and look forward to seeing you again next year!

Respectfully,

The Domestic Violence Summit Board Members
Wednesday Agenda       October 5, 2011

8:00-8:45 Registration and Continental Breakfast in Colorado Room

8:45-10:15 Opening Session
Colorado Room
A Call to Men: Breaking Out of the Man Box       Tony Porter
A CALL TO MEN believes that preventing domestic and sexual violence is primarily the responsibility of men. Although historically it has been almost entirely women who have been at the forefront addressing this issue, we think it is essential that men play a primary role in the solution. To do that, well-meaning men...men who, for the most part don't see themselves as part of the problem...need to get involved. By strategizing with groups across the United States and abroad, our vision is to shift social norms that define manhood in our culture, and produce a national movement of men dedicated to this cause. A CALL TO MEN is unique in its ability to be affirming and respectful to the experiences of women while expressing genuine care and hope for men. Through seminars, workshops and other educational vehicles, A CALL TO MEN challenges men to reconsider many of the social norms that define manhood, in an effort to create a more just society.

10:15-10:30 Break

10:30-12:00 Breakout Sessions

Cheyenne Room
Christianity and Domestic Violence       Joel Swanson and Angela Hackett
This session will provide an in-depth look at the multidimensional ways in which Christian faith communities respond to intimate partner violence among their congregants, with an emphasis on helping law enforcement and victim advocates to better communicate with Christian clients. The workshop will focus on providing tools for professionals in this field to work with a population that may have specific concerns, barriers, and community strengths related to seeking assistance for domestic violence situations. Participants will leave this session with a better understanding of the dynamics of abuse in the faith community, and will be better equipped to communicate with both clergy and victims whose faith commitments influence their approaches to this issue.

Colorado Room
Breakout Session: Engaging Men and Boys in Prevention       Tony Porter
This workshop will discuss strategies and techniques for the engagement of men and boys in domestic and sexual violence prevention. Discussion will focus on the Seven Guiding Principles of A CALL TO MEN and Ten Things that Men Can Do To Prevent Domestic and Sexual Violence. This workshop will include information to assist men and women in understanding what’s required to develop prevention efforts in the workplace and community.

Conifer Room
Veteran’s Trauma Court Update       Carrie Bailey
We will provide a brief overview of the Veteran’s Trauma Court program to include the mission and goals of the program. In addition, we will share success data as well personal success stories of veterans who have been helped by this unique problem solving court. Finally, we will allow time for questions related to assisting justice-involved veterans.

12:00-1:00 Lunch in the Colorado Room
Wednesday Agenda

1:00-2:30 Breakout sessions

Cheyenne Room
Implementing DV Treatment Standards in the Real World       Cheryl Davis
Have you discovered you have more questions than answers? Since we began implementing the standard revisions a year ago the DVOMB has been working to respond to the many questions that have arisen. This session will provide further clarification on the levels of treatment, definition of the second clinical contact, offender competencies and other frequently asked questions. We will also allow time for a question/answer open forum.

Colorado Room
Sexual Assault and Intimate Partner Violence       Pat Henry
Marital or intimate partner rape has only been recognized as a crime in the legal system in the past 30 years. The lengthy legal and cultural history of women being seen as their husband’s property will be reviewed. The presenter will describe the outcomes of marital rape cases at Fort Carson, including two cases of treatment with survivors of marital rape. The group will generate some areas of advocacy that we could tackle in order to reduce the amount of invalidation that goes on for rape survivors.

Conifer Room
Victims Using Violence       Judge Doug Miles
This interactive presentation will examine challenges faced by law enforcement, prosecutors, treatment providers, victim advocates and other allied professionals in the investigation, identification, prosecution and treatment of victims of intimate partner violence who use violence against their abusers. Areas of discussion will include: mandatory arrest, self-defense, predominate aggressor, unintended collateral consequences and statutory barriers.

2:30-2:45 Break

2:45-4:15 Breakout Sessions

Cheyenne Room
Military Responses to Domestic Abuse       MAJ Douglas Weeks & CPT Dawn Scovel
Military personnel are subject to Department of Defense guidelines, regulations, and local laws. In this panel session, representatives from the US Army and US Air Force will discuss how domestic violence is handled from a command perspective. Participants will have an opportunity to ask questions.

Colorado Room
Strangulation and Domestic Violence       Diana May
This training will provide an overview of identifying a strangulation case. The mechanics of strangulation will be discussed, as well as subjective and objective symptoms of strangulation. The presenter will further discuss how an advocate, case worker, therapist, investigator, paralegal, county attorney, or prosecuting attorney should respond to a strangulation case.

Conifer Room
Effective Use of Pre-Plea Investigation Reports       Judge Doug Miles
This interactive presentation will examine the principles, history, evolution and current use of pre-plea investigation reports (PPIR) in the Fourth Judicial District. Judge Miles will also discuss the results of a soon-to-be-published statistical analysis of the Pilot Program, the precursor to the current PPIR process, which compared compliance and recidivism rates of Pilot Program defendants to the general population of DV defendants in El Paso County Courts.
Thursday Agenda

October 6, 2011

8:00-8:45 Registration and Continental Breakfast in Colorado Room

8:45-10:15 Breakout Sessions

Cheyenne Room
Animal abuse & IPV Philip Tedeschi
_The media highlights the handful of cases where people die at the hands (mouths) of dogs each year but the new story on the block is literally: “man bites dog”, or more accurately, hits, drags behind car, sets on fire, throws onto freeway, starves to death, etc. Animal cruelty is a serious problem and increasingly questions arise about whether such violence is part of a constellation of violence toward animals as well as humans, or whether it may ultimately lead to violence against humans, especially in intimate partner violence (IPV) and child maltreatment. Discussion will highlight work being done by The Colorado Link Project, an initiative coordinated out of the institute for Human-Animal Connection (IHAC) at the University of Denver’s Graduate School of Social Work._

Colorado Room
EMDR Charity Richardson
_Eye Movement Desensitization and Reprocessing (EMDR) is a powerful therapeutic method for healing trauma-based problems. EMDR releases traumatic memories locked in the brain, accelerates recovery, and reduces stress. This workshop will provide an overview of EMDR, how it works, how to recognize when to refer and client testimonies for the general participant._

Conifer Room
Sexual Assault Prosecution Donna Billek

10:15-10:30 Break

10:30-12:00 Group session
Colorado Room
Personal Story Sheri Vigil
_In 2006, Sheri’s life took a dramatic turn, as she experienced one of the darkest periods of her life. As she will tell you, though, she is not a victim, she is a victor! She shares with her audience one of the most poignant and compelling domestic violence narratives you will ever hear, from the moment it happened through the agonizing fallout that followed due to the failures of those whose responsibility it was to protect her. Sheri believes in the concept that anything is possible, “especially if we apply ourselves to the best of our ability and we work hard every day. Nothing good comes from little effort; we must roll up our sleeves and be ready to go to work.” She will tell you that you will not find anyone with more character, heart, passion, loyalty, and genuine care and concern for the people she cares about and those she serves. Her sole mission in doing these presentations is to benefit you, her audience, by offering the full impact of her story from a human perspective, to give it a human voice, rather than by empty words that you read on a piece of paper._

Thursday Agenda

1:00-2:30 Breakout Sessions

Cheyenne Room
Child Custody Disputes: Coercive Control Tactics Debra Wingfield
Recent research literature defines the hidden epidemic of batterers’ use of coercive control inside and outside their relationships after separation. Specific coercive control tactics used with Family Court personnel are presented through case study evaluation activities. Mediators, attorneys, GALs, CASAs, custody evaluators, and judges are subjected to coercive control tactics when batterers use them to maintain control of their victims and children.

Colorado Room
Victim Advocate Panel
Victim advocates can be found in a variety of settings and filling a variety of roles. Here, a panel of advocates from several different agencies discuss their responsibilities and what their positions tell us about how systems respond to intimate partner abuse. Participants are encouraged to ask questions of all panel members. Panel members include Mari from the Colorado Springs Police Department, Leah from Fort Carson, Connie from the El Paso County Sheriff’s Office, Nancy from TESSA, and

Conifer Room
The Law Enforcement Response to Domestic Abuse Det. Geri Pring
This session will provide participants with a quick overview of law enforcement requirements mandated by Colorado Revised Statues. Detective Pring will describe the investigatory follow-up from the Domestic Violence Enhanced Response Team (DVERT). Participants are encouraged to be interactive and ask questions throughout the session.

2:30-2:45 Break

2:45-4:15 Closing session

Colorado Room
Wellness Dr. Kristen Kells
Discover how to develop the mind of a champion by combating stress, increasing energy and improving health, and increasing joy in everyday life. Learn techniques to create a winning mindset and accomplish goals in every area of your life. Learn how to optimize health and wellness for the busy professional.

During the closing session, we will draw for the Rose Kjeldgaard scholarship. Rose was a valuable member of the domestic violence treatment community and the Summit. In her memory, the Summit dedicates one scholarship per year to be raffled on the 2nd day of the conference. The Rose Kjeldgaard Scholarship is a reminder to the community of her tremendous dedication and infectious laughter.
